
As one of the largest lighting manufacturers in the US, Hubbell Lighting touches communities and consumers around the globe. So for a new corporate headquarters that reflects their prominent position, optimizes their development processes, and highlights their strong commitment to social and environmental responsibility, they naturally looked to McMillan Smith & Partners. The result is a kaleidoscope of brilliant solutions, a breathtaking structure recognized for its healthy design, construction and operation.*

Congratulations to Hubbell Lighting for choosing to lead by example.

McMillan Smith is known for showcasing sustainable design in its most beautiful – and most practical – forms. We believe that minimizing environmental impact is key to maximizing value.
